Dear Mr. Sands

Thank you for reaching out to the Department with your question about footwear. It appears that our response sent in February did not reach you. My apologies. I have attached a copy of the initial response with this letter.

In addition to the information provided in the letter, please note that the Department of Health and Human Services does not have a state food sanitation rule that mandates customers wearing shoes.

Again, thank you for your question. If you have any additional concerns, please feel free to contact me.
